Music Moves Me

These students were caught in the spotlights as they performed to the theme song

The last day of May went out in an explo-sion of music, song and dance for the students at Madoc Public School as they presented the last of three performances of their musical require Music Moves.

Me.'
It was a fast paced, well balanced revue in which the students whole,performed almost flawles almost flawlessly. The few little slip-ups by some of the younperformers added immeasurably to the magic of the evening and through-out the show, the student performers enacted their roles with enthusiasm and

Part of the magic concept not only gave ame from the the audience a better setting. The choir was seated on the permanent stage with another stage for the performers surrounded by the audience. This theat-re in the round view of the happenings but also gave them a feeling of participation. It also gave the choreographers an opportunity to develop their to develop their routines using not only the stage but the aisles as well. The choir, under the direction of Musi-cal Director Damaris Faulkner, was made up of about 140 students from kindergarten to grade 8 and their performance was such that one really had to say

'Music Moves Me.'
Over 270 students took part in the performance presenting eight song and dance routines and dance routines which covered the range of musicx from ballad to rock. To the music of the theme song 'Music Moves Me' dancers romped through the aisles on onto and around the range setting the onto and around the stage setting the scene for the the presentation of Six Little Ducks by students from the junior grades. Dressed in costumes and trying hard to waddle like ducks these children were warmly received by the audience.

Next came a spir

Next came a spir-ited rendering of Supercalifragilis-ticexpialidocious followed by a playlet developed by teacher Nama Walther, about a cat who had died, was ministered to by a cat who had died, was ministered to by lady cats and doctors to no avail. There was a happy ending though, because the smell of fish revived him and they all danced happily off.

The music of Gonna Build a Mountain and Build a Mountain and Sunrise Sunset brought a change of pace but not for long. Rock Around The Clock saw eleven couples rocking in the aisles and on the stage and in the next number a donkey, a pig and a fish para-ded around in a presentation of the song Swinging on a Star.

Such was the impact of this whole performance, that the audience sponta-neously stood and gave the cast a gave the cast a prolonged round of applause. This did not go un-noticed by Principal John Murphy who thanked the audience and said In the past two nights I asked the audience to stand and show their appreciation to the students. I am gratified by your response and proud response and proud of the children who took part tonight. In acknowledging all of the people who helped put this show together he made special mention of Catherine Althoff, a parent who had devoted many hours of her time to choreograph the musical.

About four weeks of hard rehearsals had gone into this production and those production and those people who had an opportunity to see the show will no doubt retain a pleasant memory of the even-ing for much longer than that.

Students Against Drunk Driving

These buttons are on sale to raise funds for CHSS S.A.D.D. program $\label{eq:chss}$

The beginnings of a chapter of SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving) is taking place in brunk Driving) is taking place in Centre Hastings Secondary School. Two students, Jennifer Mohan and er Mohan and Student President Leo Butler, together with Mr. Jim Berry, a teacher, recently attended a SADD conference in Gana-noque along with students from across the Descripce.

being carried out at CHSS and some promotional material has been presented been presented because the but school year is drawing to a close, the main thrust of the program will begin in September.
One of the major features of this education and prevention program is the 'Contract for Life' Designed to act as a safeguard against death from drunken driving this contract is between a student and his/her parents.Basically it calls for the teenager to call for advice and or transportation at or transportation at any hour and from any place if he/she has been drinking or is with a friend who is driving has been drinking. The parent in return agrees to fetch the teenager at any hour and from any place or to provide safe trans-portation with no questions asked at that time. Additionally the parent agrees to seek safe, sober transportation home in a similar situation.

This document has

This document has proved controversial in many areas with some parents feeling that if they sign this contract, they are giving permission for their teenagers to disk Another areas. drink. Another area of concern is whether or not a teenager who has been drinking is capable of deciding whether or not he or she is fit to drive or should call home.

It is perhaps not the most effective way of addressing the problem nor is there any easy solu-tion. However it is far less traumatic to talk to a hungover teenato a nungover teena-ger the morning after than it is to be sitting in a funeral home faced with a lifetime of guilt and aguish because you didn't try.

Drinking and Boating Don't Mix

An amendment to the Criminal Code last December brought the operation of boats and aircraft under the same section dealing with the operation of a motor vehicle. This new law will give police an opportunity to deal more effectively with alcohol related offences by boaters, especially as the incidence of drinking boaters has caused some concern throughout the province.

Essentially what this means is, if you are charged with being in charge of a boat whilst intoxicated, it reflects upon you as an operator of a vehicle. If you have on your record an impaired driving charge for driving your car or truck while impaired and you are charged with an alcohol related boating offence, then the boating offence is your second impaired offence and will be subject to the stiffer penalties of a repeat offence.

Impaired boaters with a string of previous convictions for impaired driving could wind up losing their drivers licences. So far this year there have been two instances of people being found guilty of impaired boating who have lost their driving licences, suffered heavy fines and been banned from operat-ing their boat for a period of a year. The local O.P.P. detachment will be operating their marine patrol unit again this year on local lakes and the new law will allow them to carry the ALERT alcohol screening devices

It was all in fun though, with much laughter, mock moans and groans and a lot of 'sass' from the slaves. Slave auction had been held the day previous and although we don't know how much was raised for the Student Fund, we know that the highest bid for one slave was $27.

Garnett Holmes, a teacher at C.H.S.S., said These slave days are for fun to foster school spirit and raise a few dollars for the Student Fund. Every-

The 'Big Cheese' comes to the match

When you think of Hastings County, you think of cheese. The county has long been known as a major cheese producer since 1866. To honor International Plowing Match and Farm Machinery Show, hosted by

Show, hosted by Hastings, the organizers have made a Big Cheese. The cheese is 3200 pounds of cheddar cheese. It measures four feet across and four and a half feet high. Made last September at the local Harold Cheese Factory, it required Factory, it required three vats of milk, approximately 36,000 pounds. The cheese was pressed into a large stainless steel hoop, borrowed from the Millbank Cheese Factory and is now being aged. The cheese will be considered 'old' cheese by the time of the Match.

Cheese making continues to be an important industry in Hastings. In 1881, records showed 48 factories producing cheddar cheese pounds exported from the district that year.

Production continues to remain high, with Belleville as the market centre. Excellent water, rail and road connections to the farming areas made the city a natural centre market for the product.

When you visit the International Plow-ing Match, take the opportunity to see the Big Cheese. The Match will be held September 16 to 20, near Stirling, Hastings County clover Sweet poisoning was first recognized in 1930 as a disease that occurred in cattle who were fed sweet clover hay. Symptoms of sweet clover poisoning include internal hemorrhage internal hemorrhage and bleeding. Hemor-rhage occurs under the skin and if it is extensive enough, death follows. In less severe cases, bleed-ing may persist only following surgery or injury. injury.

How safe is sweet clover for cattle?

Animals with this

Animals with this bleeding disease all have a common history of eating a sweet clover hay. Just before dying, the animals become pale and have an increased pulse rate. Post mortem examinations show extensive hemorrhage as the usual outstanding feature as either an eruption of blood vessels in the tissues or leakage of blood. There also tends to be purple discoloration of the skin and of the skin and minute, circular hemorrhages on the surface of the skin, mucous membranes and internal organs. Sweet clover disease is caused by a very potent agent since many animals in a herd may die. In all cases, sweet clover which had become mouldy was found in the cattle feeder. The mould in the sweet clover produces the toxic agent, dicoumarol, which is respossible for the disease. disease.

Dicoumarol, which is produced by the mould associated with sweet clover, impairs the synthesis of several factors required for blood coagulation. If these factors are not present extensive hemorrhage occurs.

If rapid blood loss occurs, an acute crisis is observed. If the blood loss is gradual or minimal, no effect is observed until surgery or some type of tissue injury occurs. Then a swell-ing, which is just a collection of blood in collection of blood in the area, occurs. This swelling can occur anywhere on the body but it is usually seen on the inside of the thigh and at the shoulder joint. Other notable signs include an absence of any symptoms of infec-tion, such as heat or high temperature. tion, such as heat or high temperature. There is also a marked weakness due to blood loss before death. This results in symptoms such as stiffness of the gait, weakness and constipation. In a recent study conducted by investi-gators at the Ontario Veterinary College, 3 calves were tested. One was fed hay, a second was fed mouldy sweet clover and third was fed good sweet clover. After several 'weeks, all three calves were castrated. The calf fed on hay made a full recovery, the one full recovery, the one fed on good sweet clover was ill for one week and then recov-ered while the one fed on mouldy sweet clover died within a few hours. This research study suggests the agent responsible for the disease is present in the feed, and is more prevalent in mouldy feed.

that farmers have fed sweet clover to their herds for years without any prob-lems. The answer to this stems from the fact that every harvests and stores hay differently. New harvesting and stor-age methods favor mould formation and dicoumarol produc-tion. The guilty clov-er seems to be a strain which dries poorly and is poorly and is harvested under moist conditions. Treatment for this disease starts with the removal of sweet clover hay from the feed. Veterinarians will also treat the cattle with Vitamin K or blood transfusions.

Canada Farm Labour Pool in 12th year

The Canada Farm Labour Pool is now in its 12th year of operation. It offers workers, including students, a source of finding farm work and farmers a source of finding workers. Workers may be hired on a daily, temporary or permanent basis. Over 500 farmers used the service and 3000 placements were recorded in 1985.

Paul Risebrough and Dianne Foote are looking after the day work programme in Port Perry this year and may be contacted at the CFLP office in Port Perry (985-3831); Anne Marie Werry in Cannington (432-2101); and Isabel Stinson in (432-2101); and Isabel Stinson in Havelock (778-7133); a toll free number may be used 1-800-263-3825.

ing mid-June, each office opens at 7 a.m., six days a week.

Workers and students, interested in farm work, are encouraged to apply at an office of the CFLP. Various farm jobs are available including haying, picking strawberries, and general farm work. A recommended wage of $5 per hour applies in most areas.

Farmers interested in hiring through the day work programme are encouraged to call early each day to book workers. Any number of workers may be requested 1, 2, 3...whatever is required. For more information, please call the office in your area.

Illegal to give raw milk away

Ontario milk producers are being reminded by the OMMB that selling or giving away raw (unpasteurized) milk to the public could result in a farmer losing his livelihood. It is illegal under The Milk Act to give raw milk away, or to sell it to anyone other.

It is linegal under The Milk Act to give raw milk away, or to sell it to anyone other than the OMMB. As well, under the Health Protection and Promotion Act it is an offence to sell or give away raw milk for unman consumption.

Apart from the serious penalties that may be imposed under the Milk Act and the Health Protection Act, producers were also reminded of the potential liability if someone falls ill, or dies, as a result of consuming raw milk obtained from a producer's farm.

Providing raw milk to anyone is not doing that person a favor. It could cost a milk producer everything he has ever worked for. Board Chairman Ken McKinnon said.

McKinnon said.

The notice was mailed to every milk producer in Ontario. along with a flyer from the Ministry of Health.

* Know the symptoms of possible poisoning. Accidents may occur despite careful precautions. Warning signals are headaches, excessive sweating/salivation. tightness in chest, somiting, diarrhea. contraction of pupils, excessive fatigue. dizziness or blurred vision. Anyone with one or more of these symptoms should be taken immediately to a physician. Take the product label or entire containers along to make treatment more effective.

If material spills on the skin or near the eyes, rinse immediately with flowing water for at least 15 minutes. In addition, always check labels for directions in case of swallowing or inhaling materials.

Carefully following:

Carefully following these safety measures, as well as always reading and following label instructions can ensure and safeguard against any potential risk to humans and animals.

"Agricultural chemicals are important tools beneficial to crop production. But. just like any other tool, careful management and understanding of agricultural chemicals is required. Houghton states.

It's Feeding Time For Your ALFALFA:

High yielding alfalfa has high requirements for plant food nutrients. A five ton crop, for example, takes up 50 lbs. of phosphorous and 250 lbs. of potassium from the soil. You need a generous fertilization program to supplement the soils nutrient supply.

Right now is the time to begin, so stop by or give us a call. We're the people to see when it comes to keeping crops profitable.

Don't forget that the alfalfa weevil also wants to harvest your crop. Peak infestations usually coincide with the bud stage of the first crop. See us about Pfizer Furadan 480L to control the hungry predators.

Help Heidi Fund

Donations are still coming in for the Help Heidi fund. Madoc Public School raised funds from the sale of refreshments at their recent Music. Moves Me performances. Donation jars set on counters in many of the stores throughout the community are getting filled up. Employees at Black Diamond cheese are into their fundraising. More and More people it seems are helping out as the word spreads.

The Madoc Township Firemen and the OPP with their mascot Goathill Gertie will putting on a ball(?) game on Tuesday the 10th at the Eldorado diamond to raise money for the fund.

Pauline Hill reports that $67.20 was raised at a dessert sale at the Madoc Township Public School. Mothers of the grades 4 and 6 students provided the desserts which were sold to teachers and students at a nominal cost. Pauline sends a big Thankyou to to the parents, students and staff for their support.

"Not too well done Gas barbecues are a convenient and economical way to enjoy outdoor cooking, but they must be used carefully and kept in good condition. Every summer, backyard chefs are injured and property is damaged in gas barbecue fires. Here are a few safety tips to ensure your barbecue parties don't go up in smoke. 1. There's only one way to connect a small leak propane cylinder to a barbecue-the right way. Follow the manufacturer's instruccan cause tions closely and keep the fuel hose away from any metal parts which may become hot. explosion

2. Check for leaks regularly: Brush a soap and water solution over hoses and connectors and open the cylinder valve. If there's a leak, bubbles will form in the soap film.

3. Keep your barbecue at least 10 feet from buildings, overhangs and combustible structures

4. Don't try to light a barbecue with the lide closed. If it fails to light or goes out, turn the gas off and wait five minutes before relighting.

5. When finished, close all valves.

Never bring propane cylinders indoors.

7. If you suspect your barbecue isn't working properly, have it

Ontario March of Dimes launches new campaign

The Ontario March of Dimes is expanding its fundraising efforts to assist adults with physical disabilities. A new Summer Campaign will appeal for donations across the province during the month of June.

The goal of the campaign is to raise $300.000. Dr. David Logan, president of the organization, says. This is an important new The Ontario March says, 'Im-important imperiant for venture for the Ontario March of Dimes We, and the physically disabled adults we assist, need generous contributions from everyone.

Dr. Logan added that Campaign become Campaign will become an annual event as is the Ability Fund Campaign held January ebruary

The Ontario March of Dimes provides many and varied services. They range from the provision of mobility aids such as wheelchairs and artiwheelchairs and arti-ficial limbs to assis-tance with housing and employment. One very special program that begins soon is the Ontario March of Dimes' camps. These camps provide a holiday in the sun for many the sun for many people who are in total-care facilities and rarely get a recreational break outdoors. Robotics - A different perspective

by James Alfred
As the age of computers advanced upon us the entire technology left me behind. I'm so far behind now that I can't even set my new digital watch. I made up my mind years ago that I was old enough to escape the need to learn the new world of compu-ters. Unfortunately for me the develop-ment of robotics and computers has been so fast that I must change to survive. This technology has caught up and passed me. I am now faced with the reality that I must learn must learn.

I began the learning process with a short seminar on robotics and was flabergasted at what I learned. Robots cost four dollars per hour to run now and within five years that within five years that cost will be down to one dollar per hour. That cost includes the purchase price and maintenance. At the same time robot costs are dropping the cost of manpower

the cost of manpower is going up.
Robots work continuously and accurately. They produce a better product cheaper. At the same time workers tend to be absent, inattentive and imperfect and true to human nature demand more wages holidays and more benefits

Canada compared to other advanced nations has a low usage of robots. The massive shift to this high tech automation has yet to be really felt in Canada. Because of this our labour force must soon experience more displacement, retraining or early retirement. But the leap into this high tech robotics is a must. must. It evident is now that companies and coun-tries which have automated are employing more people because their products are of high more quality and their prices cheaper. It is equally obvious that those companies and countries who have not automated are losing out closing down. The obvious conclusion is that in order to stay as a modern competitive country we must must automate

The challenge now is for all of us to understand the new order of things. Management must realize and imple-ment the changes, workers must retrain, keep up and accept the changes. accept the changes.

Most importantly our youth must realize the challenge and the incredible ground incredible ground floor opportunities in becoming competent in high tech. Our children must see this new future while still in school. They must stress their math and sciences if they are to be masters of their own destiny as high tech employees.

It's exciting this new world. It's a changed world and challenging too. In many ways I've become jealous of our children because our children because of the wonders that await them. But its not too late for me either. I'm going to rise to the challenge and learn how to live in this new exciting world of automation. think I'll start by learning how to set my digital watch. At least that's a start and a different perspective on the world of high tech robotics.

In the Legislature recently, Jim Pollock, M.P.P. for has Hastings-Peterborough, recog-nized the efforts of local firefighters, and i

service clubs and service clubs and volunteers in their work toward estab-lishing a training centre for volunteer firefighters.

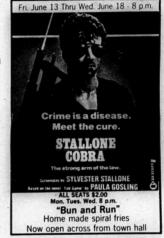

On May 25, Mr. Pollock was present for the kick-off of the fund - raising campaign which is being organized by Gerry Peters. During this event, Mr. this event, Mr. Pollock presented the association with an association with an ontario Flag which will be flown over the sight along with the official flag of the centre which was designed by local freelighters firefighters.

The centre, which will be known as the EASTERN ONTAR-FIREFIGHTERS CENTRE, is to be located in Norwood where the association already purchased the have commenced work on access roads.

During his speech,
Mr. Pollock
commended the idea as a worthwhile endeavour which is long overdue. He also requested that the provincial govern-provincial govern-ment support the project with funding. Outside the Legis-lature, Mr. Pollock said he is happy with this new forum which allows all members ninty seconds address any issue they wish. Mr. Pollock took advan-Pollock took advan-tage of this time to bring forward other issues and has said that he will continue to use any channels open to him to ensure the concerns of East-ern Ontaio, and in ern Ontario and in particular Hastings-Peterborough are brought before the Legislature.

The warmest, right in the strike brightest spot on a zone. The batter, dull rain-threatening evening was the Eldorado Ball Diamond last Tuesday evening.

A crowd of between 250 and 300 turned out to watch the Ontario Prolific Playboys and their mascot Goathill Gertie play in a fund-raising match against the Madoc Township Fire Squirters.

Goathill Gertie had the crowd roaring with leavity at when the strike to the strike the strike to the strike the strike

The Township Fire-squirters weren't about to let this go unchallenged and two of them rushed onto the field carry-ing a cardboard box, carefully disguising a portable water tank. A few quick squirts had Commander Tom crying uncle, where-upon sundry However, jail. However, while Gertie was going through the crowd collecting the fine, Captain Ketch, aided and abetted by a young lad with a sharp knife, escaped.

Many people commented on the size of the crowd and Christine Morgan who attended the Christine Morgan who attended the game briefly, with Heidi, said she was amazed at the number of people and expressed her gratitude for their help.

This was big league stuff, not big, in the sense of national teams, but for all those who organized, participated or just attended it was a demonstration of the limese of the hearts. Bigness of the hearts of the local people helping someone Starting in B.C. the choir rendered a tribute to Terry Fox and then went on to Alberta. Whilst they sang, cowboys and cowgirls squaredanced to the music on the stage. On through Onatrio, Quebec, Charlottetwon to the Maritimes until finally, the until finally, the Eskimos were featured as represen-tatives of our Native People.

Each feature touched on some highlight of history or heritage and groups of students went through various routines, presenting an imaginative over-an imaginative over-view of our country. Each effort was applauded with delight by the parents, families and parents, families and friends of the students, but perhaps the biggest round of applause went to the 'orchestra'. Lead by two young lads, (who looked as though their feet wouldn't touch the floor is they sat in an ordinary chair,) they chinked their triangles, clacked their sticks, trembled their tambourines and were helped by an energetic young man, who, with a big grin of delight, thumped heartily on a drum.

District Deputy Grand Master, Perry Brownson of Madoc, was master of cere-monies. Les Brady of Tweed led the service worship and gave the address. Wes Farrell of Thomas-burg read the lesson. Dianne Cole, District Deputy President of Havelock Rebekah Lodge, led the sing-ing. She was accom-panied by Cecil Hagerman and Earl Langdon of Madoc Lodge.

Brownson Mr. Brownson welcomed the members and guests. He told those attend-ing that the annual church service was one of the most important events organized by the district, "It gets us out together," he said, "and gives us an opportunity to stress the religious part of our Order, as well as meet members and their families from the other lodges in District 45."

Mrs. Grant Airhart and family presented District 45 with a shield in memory of the late Grant Airhart, who was a dedicated member of the Independent Order of Oddfellows DDGM. Perry Brownson accepted the shield on behalf of District 45. He explained that the shield would have the name of each succeeding District Deputy Grand Deputy Grand Master of District 45

Master of District 45 engraved on it, beginning with himself. The shield will be on display in the home of the DDGM during his term of office.

Mr. ' Brownson thanked Mrs. Airhart and her family for and her family for their thoughtfulness, adding that Grant had contributed a great deal to his Lodge and to his municipality, where he had served as councillor and reeve. His dedication will continue to inspire us, Mr. Brownson said.

Dominance-related aggression related aggression derives from an inherent tendency of animals to try to be dominant. Cats tend not to display dominance-related aggression because they are asocial. Cats prefer to avoid each other and do not interact with humans in a dominative-subordinative relationship.

Dogs are a different matter. Dr. Gary Landsberg, an authority in animal behavior problems, states 'Dogs have to be dominated. If you don't control the dog will control you. If a dog is dominant over its owner it will disobey the owner's commands and will

One solution to dominance-related dominance-related aggression is to change the situation and make the owner dominant. Behavioral therapy teaches owners that they have to be the boss and more importantly, it teaches them how to be the boss.

Dr. Landsberg says that in many cases an owner inadvertently rewards vertently rewards the dog for its fears. He gives the example of an owner taking the dog onto his/her lap and comforting it during a thunderstorm. The dog associates its fears with receiving lots of affection. Treatment involves a gradual exposure to the fear stimulant through behavior.

It is important to remember that there is always a reason behind aggressive behavior whether it is learned, inherited or innate. Behavioral therapy teaches the owner how to control the dog and helps to change the dog's aggressive behavior. The elimination of a behavioral problem is challenging but the reward of a well adjusted, socially acceptable pet.

Woods, Water and Wildlife

Orphaned birds should be kept wild

By Mike Singleton

In spring and early summer, in Ontaric alone, 500 million to ne billion young birds, a year's generation, leave their yearls. Many of them, particularly young starlings, grackles, robins and blue jays (all of which breed commonly in settled areas) are found by people (especially children) who assume that the birds assume that the birds are in trouble and need to be 'rescued'.

The inclination to help a fellow creature is a good one and certainly to be encouraged in certainly to be encouraged in impressionable children. The problem is that efforts by that. efforts by humans to help young birds usually have the opposite effect and ultimately instill the wrong message about the appropriate relationship between people and wild animals.

Most people assume that young birds are raised in the nest until they are able to ferid for themselves and fly away, and therefore that any flightless, obviously immature bird.

ously immature bird on the ground must be in trouble. This is not the case.

Young songbirds grow at an astonishingly rapid rate between hatching and fledging (developing their flight feathers) at 2-3 weeks. For most birds the naked and blind hatchlings are oblivious to their surroundings, responding only to a parent's call or movements. As they grow, they become more aware of their environment and by day 10 a fear more aware of their environment and by day 10 a fear responses is evoked by sudden movements around the nest, despite the fact that if undisturbed, they would stay there another three to four days. This premature departure means that the young leave before they are fully capable of flight.

Although more vulnerable to predation (and well meaning rescuers), these young birds are not abandoned. The parents will respond to the food call of the fledgling and will continue to do so for the next 10 to 14 days. Meanwhile, the young will-learn to find their own food. Meanwhile, the young will learn to find their own food, develop their powers of flight, and gradu-ally become more capable in dealing with the world.

In other kinds of birds? early leaving of the nest and separation from the autit. are important survival techniques. Kill-deer, for example, nest on open nest on open branches and fields where young would be promptly spotted on the nest. They on the nest. They hatch at an advanced, downy stage, and leave the nest within hours, to run among vegetation, 'freezing' if startled. The adult deliberately maintains its distance, so as not to draw attention to the young, returning periodically to provide food and training. means In short.

In short, most orphans are not orphans are not orphans are not orphans are not orphans at all; but are cared for by 'invisible' parents. Some young will doubtless be eaten by natural predators as well as cats. To humans 'detached' from biological realities, it will come as quite a shock to learn that as few as 30 percent of any given year's 'crop' of young songbirds may be added to the nest. When it's when were possible to the nest. When it's when well as cats. It is simply a fact of nature that populations of song-birds are maintained by balancing a high reproduction rate against a high mortality.

The young bird's chances of becoming a fully functional adult are at least as good if it is left to take its chances as if it is "adopted' by people. Rearing requires feeding a specialized diet every 15-20 minutes throughout daylight, and even if successful doesn't equip birds to deal with other birds and the environment.

The reason for this increased interest is due to the recent case of Clifford Olsen and the number of police killings in the past year, he said. But the call for the death penalty on this basis some a reaction that seeks a quick fix for the problem. What people are really saying is that they are afraid and want to be protected and feel safe, he said. Scott said that there are several myths associated with the death penalty. For instance, some prison guards and police officers have themselves asked that the death penalty not be reinstated because it tends to create a siege mentality with criminals who feel they have nothing to lose after one murder. Help prevent forest fires

hundred's of wildfires occur. Approximately 90 percent of these fires are caused by people being careless with debris burning (grass. hrush (grass, brush, garbage) smoking materials and materials and campfires. Most of these fires are caused by rural residents, farmers, private cottagers, car passengers, fishermen and campers. The cost of putting out these man caused fires amounts to thousands of thousands dollars each year. All of us, as tax payers, must bear the burden for this carelessness.

HOW TO BURN SAFELY:

SAFELY: 1. Always burn debris during early morning or evening hours: (Before 10 a.m. and after 6 p.m.) Keep fire fighting equip-ment near by. (Water hoses, rakes and shovels) Never burn when the winds are strong and do not leave fire leave unattended! 2. If burning with an incinerator keep it at least 15 feet from trees or buildings, clear area to mineral soil or bare rock for at least 5 feet around your barrell. Always place a wire mesh top (holes no larger than 1/4 inch) over the incinerator.

3. Car passengers must always use ashtrays for smoking materials along the roadways. If carelessly discarded these glowing these glowing embers can be deadly to our forests and homes.

4. Make sure all campfires have been totally extinguished with water or miner-al soil. Even small ashes can be rekindled into a large

All fires, whether large or small, may threaten personal property or human life. Report them to your local fire warden, fire department or nearest Ministry of Natural Resources office at once. Please indicate an exact location, size and values near the fire.

ATV safety for summer of '86

For the uninitiated, All-Terrain vehicles or ATVs, as they are commonly called, look like large, motor-driven three or four wheeled cycles with wide, low-pressure tires which enable them to be driven over soft ground, snow, and rough terrain; in short, to go where few other vehicles can travel. Their year-round use and reasonable cost are making ATVs a popular choice for family recreation and utility use in agriculture. For the uninitiated,

Fishing in Tweed District

Can't you just picture it, lounging on the quiet water soaking up the warm sunlight. Fishing rod in hand a stringer of beautiful fish along side of the boat. Squnds appealing doesn't it, when do we go, where do we go?

Where to go fishing in the Tweed District largely depends on what species of fish you wish to catch. The species of fish often depends on the type of lake you fish which in turn depends on the general so the gene depends on the gener-al geology of the area.

The Tweed District of the Ministry of Natural Resources has a variety of geological features. The Canadian Shield occupies the northern part of the district and running through the southeast part of the district is a geological formation the district is a geological formation called the Frontenac Axis. The Canadian Shield is character-ized by shallow soils and bare rocky and bare rocky outcrops. The lakes on the Canadian Shield are generally deep and clear. This is where the majority of the district's lake trout, brook trout, rainbow trout and splake lakes are splake lakes are located. The southwestern part of the district is part of the district is on a limestone plain. The soils are generally deeper although there are many areas where the limestone is exposed. The lakes in this area are generally not very deep and have thick deposits of organic material on the lake bottom. These lakes are most often quite productive and provide excellent provide excellent warm water fisheries (i.e. bass and walleye).

What has Tweed

What has Tweed District got to offer if your preference is lake trout fishing? Tweed District has more lake trout lakes than any other district in the minidistrict in the mini-stry's eastern region. About 30 lakes are managed exclusively for lake trout. These lakes tend to be the larger lakes in the district such as Mazi-naw and Weslemkoon. However, some of the lake trout lakes or the lake trout lakes such as Bailey, Barnard and Big Ohlman lakes are quite small. Most of the lakes, such as Palmerston, Brule, Ashby and Sharbot support excellent support excellent natural reproduction, whereas others such as Mazinaw and

Eagle depend heavily on stocking. The Tweed District

The Tweed District also has many more brook trout lakes than any other-district in the ministry's eastern region. There are about 60 lakes that are stocked with brook trout. Although lakes such as Rock, South Quinn and Sullivan are good sized, the majority of the brook trout lakes are under 10 ha in size. A 10 ha in size. A number of these brook trout lakes have their best access in the winter by snowmachine and most of the lakes are fished most heavily then. Excellent spring fishing also exists.

Normally about 14 lakes in the Tweed District are stocked with rainbow trout. These lakes are scattered across the tered across the north half of the district. Most of the lakes stocked with rainbow trout are relatively small although some, such as Mosque and Mair lakes are good sized lakes. The rainbow lakes appear to be most popular for fish-ing in the spring and summer.

The splake is a relatively new species in the Tweed District. Four lakes were stocked with splake in 1983 and an additional 16 lakes. additional 16 lakes were scheduled to be were scheduled to be stocked in 1984. Splake have become a very popular sport fish in many parts of Oñtario and it is anti-cipated that they will be successful in the Tweed District as well

Bass are found commonly through-out the Tweed Tweed out the Tweed District. Large mouth bass are most mouth bass are most often associated with shallow lakes or shallow bays in lakes. Old stumps and weed beds provide cover for the bass. Many of the lakes with good small mouth bass fisheries are relatively deep and have rocky shorelines and shoals in the lakes.

shoals in the lakes.

Walleye (yellow pickerel) and northern pike are also found throughout the Tweed District.

Popular walleye lakes include lakes in the southern portion lakes include lakes in the southern portion of the district such as Crowe, Moira, Stoco and Beaver. Other popular walleye lakes include those associated with the Mississippi River and Skootamatta Lake.

In the Tweed

In the Tweed District muskellunge are found in Crowe, Moira and Stoco Lakes. Muskie are Lakes. Muskie are big, strong fighters and are a very popu-lar game fish. Inland water cruises

Where does the traveller go who has been everywhere? Where can you find a totally relaxing vacation where accommodation and meals are provided, dress is always informal, television, radio and organized entertainment is taboo, and spectacular and spectacular scenery is constantly changing before your eyes.

Take an inland water cruise! If you are looking for a relaxing carefree and happy go lucky vacation this summer, plan to take a cruise on Canada's historic Canal

Inland waterway cruises have long been a tradition on the Mississippi river and its tributaries. Romanticized by the writings of Mark Twain and the songs Twain and the songs of Show Boat, river-boats are akin to apple pie in American folklore. But never really expanded due to the advent of the family car vacation, Caribbean Cruises, and Cont'd from page 6A Jamie Scott's presen-tation stating that they were only hear-ing one side of the issue. Some voiced strong objections to the abolition of capital punishment.

One member of the group said that it was easy to make a judge-ment about capital punishment when it affects people you don't know. But he used an example to show that when it is someone who you have known intimately and personally for a long time and you a long time and you know all the circumstances it is hard to make a blanket judgement, especially when you know that capital punishment, in that gase, would not have had any deterrent effect. At press time the resolution had not been delt with on the floor of conference so a report of the vote is not available in this report.

notions have run over the past weeks concern-he fate of this old ling. The ques-in a lot of minds hy a big uproar when there has ample time for a conservancy group to make representation for preservation of the building?

It has sat virtually unused since 1961 when the students of the school were transferred to the new Madoc Township Public School. Some ten or fifteen years ago, it was offered to the residents of Ohara for use as a community facility, wishes were concerning the school. In-as-much-as the building was in such a state of disrepair it was felt that the selling price would be relatively low. The concensus of opinion was that in such a case, it might be sold to some-one who could afford the purchase price buttont have the means whereby to maintain whereby to maintain or improve the prop-erty. They were afraid the site might become an eyesore.

With this in mind, the council decided to as were other unused schools in the township. The council of the day made the offer subject to conditions that would have seen the building properly maintained. The offer was not taken up by the community. Within the last two or three years, the residents were polled by council members as to what their offer before the conservation Authority suggesting that they consider the purchase of the property to go along with tneir holdings at Ohara's Mills. It was declined. Harry Dennis, who is in charge of the demolition on behalf demolition on behalf of the owner, said that he also suggested to a Member of the M.R.C.A. that they might like to conserve buying the property.

He was told that it would be raised in committee. That was last fall and he says he has not heard from them since.

He complains that during the demolition during the demolition process, several people visited the site asking him to stop, offering him money to stop, calling him a liar, and threatening him with court action. He says that even though the site is posted with a no tresspassing sign, people have admitted to being in the building in his absence even though the doors were locked.

This has caused him some concern because the building was in such poor shape there was the possibility of a personal injury occurring

All in all, it seems that the township council did not act in council did not act in haste or even unilaterally and that consultation with the residents of the area provided a basis for their actions. In speaking with some members of the council it became clear members of the coun-cil it became clear that they are not unaware of the need to preserve our herit-age where practical. There is a need to preserve our herit-age buildings where-ever possible particu-larly if they are of historic significance. The site of the Ohara School does have some historic signifi-cance in that the first cance in that the first school in Madoc Township was built there. Squire Ohara erected a log school house there in 1830. This was followed by a frame school house and later by the old brick building.

If there is sufficient interest in a conserinterest in a conservancy programme, perhaps now is the time for a group to be formed that would catalogue the older buildings in the area.

They could then maintain a watching brief on the buildings of interest, so that when the time comes that they appear on the market for sale,appropriate actions could be actions could be taken to preserve them for posterity.

If this plan were adopted, perhaps it would eliminate the emotional outbursts. acrimony and recri-minations that surrounded the demise of the Ohara School. These actions too, will become part of our heritage.

Master plan for garbage

Agreement has been reached by some 14 local munici-palities to join forces and engage in a study to develop a master plan for the disposal of garbage.

of garbage.
Originally the Villages of Tweed, Madoc and the Town-Madoc and the Town-ships of Elzevir-Grimsthorpe, Madoc and Huntingdon grouped together to take a hard look into. problem and develop a long term

A steering commit-tee has been formed with a representative from each municipality involved and will be working with the consulting firm of Procter and Redfern.

The Ministry of the Environment found the proposed study acceptable and will be paying for about 50% of the total cost of the study, which is estimated to be about $175.000. Each municipality will pay a portion of the balance based on such things as population and usage of dump facilities. It seems as though it will be some two or three years down the road before some definite action takes place. Various methods of disposal such as landfill sites, recycling, incinerarecycling, incineration etc have to be assessed and the whole process is expected to receive considerable input from the public. Whatever the end result, the methods proposed will have to meet increasingly stringent regulations set out by the Mini-stry of the Environ-ment and will undoubtedly cost more than present methods.

University Funding

The Ontario Government has allocated $84 million for faculty renewal at Ontario's universi-Ontario s Universi-ties over the next 10 years. Colleges and Universities Minister Gregory 'Sorbara announced last week.

Mr. Sorbara said that, as stated in the May 13 budget, the faculty renewal component of the University Excellence Fund will provide 500 new provide 500 new faculty appointments between now and-1991. Each of the appointments will be supported for a five-year period, and to accomodate this. the program's funding will carry through until 1994.95 will carry through until 1994-95.

This initiative should improve the percentage of women faculty in our institu-tions and, at the same time, increase the opportunities for young Canadian scholars to teach in the system. Sorbara said.

Excellence in both teaching and research is largely dependent upon the human resources within our institutions and therefore a consistent flow of talented new faculty into the system is vital to the instruc-tional quality and adaptability of our institutuions.

Mr Sorbara said that some 300 faculty should be appointed during the first two years of the multiyear program, an additional 70 faculty in both 1988-89 and 1989-90 and 60 in

Ontario's universities are a vital resource to current and future generations, but thet have suffered deterioration as a result of a decade of chronic underfunding. Mr. Sorbara said

While we cannot hope to erase the results of this neglect overnight. I believe that this multi-wear, multi-million dollar program clearly reflects this government's determination to give our institutions the long-term support they require. ·While support

PUBLIC NOTICE

Fill, Construction and Alteration to Waterways Regulation

of the Moira River Conservation Authority

The Moira River Conservation Authority wishes to advise the general public of its intent to proceed with the revision of its Fill. Construction and Alteration to Waterways Regulation. This notification is being made to solicit public input for the revision process.

to solicit public input for the revision process.

The Authority first adopted a Fill and Construction Regulation in December, 1962. The Regulation was amended in 1970 and 1980 but it still did not adequately reflect the Authority's responsibilities and technical data regarding floodplain issues. In 1983, the Authority completed a flood risk mapping project or the Moira River from Highway 401 to Highway 7. Floor risk mapping has also been produced for a portion of the Bell Creek watershed in the east end of the City or Belleville and mapping is now being produced for Dec Creek in the Village of Madoc.

Most children will eventually face a drugtaking decision, and their parents won't be anywhere in sight. Illegal drugs are available almost anywhere they go and peer pressure can be overpowering.

for keeping their children drug-free. Parents should begin discussing the dangers of drugs with their children starting when they are as young as nine or ten. Before they enter high school, children will have to make the decision whether or not to use drugs. Parental influence is an important factor in helping them say no to drugs.

Talk with your children often about the drug problem. Give them the facts about the scientifically proven dangers of drug abuse. But, be sure to listen to what they have to say about drugs, too. Honest, open, two-way about drugs, too. Honest, open, two-way about drugs, too thonest, open, two-way about drugs, too thonest, open, two-way about drugs will be enough to stop them from using them. Others may choose to use drugs no matter what they are told. For these children, it's up to parents to take a firm stand against drug abuse.

Grounding a child may be a good disciplinary action if drug use continues. It gives the parents a chance to talk more with the child and it may also work to separate him or her from peer pressure to use drugs.

If necessary, parents should not be afraid to get professional help. There are federal agencies, community mental health centres and parent groups to which to turn. Your pharmacist can help by pointing out your provincial or local drug and alcohol abuse authority.

Criminal Code Changes

The changes in the Criminal Code concerning pornography are certainly a step in the right direction, especially the sections dealing with the use of children in such situations. As with any major change in law or legislation, there are some gray areas of uncertainty that will no doubt be clarified, but he law concerning child pornography should be made iron clad. The changes in the riminal Code
